County School Board to seat first woman in two decades

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County voters Tuesday elected the first woman to the county school board in more than 20 years and forced an incumbent board member into a runoff.

Billie Fay Lyons of Firetower Road won in a landslide victory against District Four incumbent Woodrow Ladner of the Catahoula Community.

Unofficial returns indicate Lyons with 1,849 votes and Ladner with 755.

Scheduled for a Tuesday, Nov. 16 runoff election to select a District Three board member are Incumbent Louie Ladner of the Standard Community and Tommy Shaw of the Crane Creek Community, Circuit Clerk Henry Otis reported Wednesday.

Shaw earned the most votes in the Tuesday election with an unofficial count of 980 and Ladner gathered 839.

Other candidates in that race were Larry Wayne Peterson who received 413 votes and Paul Smith with 590, both of Crane Creek.

Mrs. C. C. (Katrina) McDonald of Bay St. Louis was a member of the Hancock school board from 1953 to 1960.

She served as board president for two years during the period and had previously served 20 years on the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board.

Otis noted the County Election Commission will meet tonight to establish an official Hancock count for the state, regional and local races.

The unofficial returns indicate 39 percent of the county's registered voters participated in the Tuesday election in spite of sporadic heavy rain and an afternoon tornado warning.

In numbers, that represents 6,510 of the county's 16,871 registered voters based on an August circuit clerk's office count.

The returns also indicate the only portion of the multi-page voting machine ballot all Hancock voters decided was the U.S. Senate race, the first page of the ballot.

In that race in the county, Incumbent Sen. John Stennis received 4,179 votes and Republican Candidate Haley Barbour received 2,331.

Stennis also overwhelmingly won the election statewide.

Second District Circuit Court Judge Republican Candidate Crockett Lindsey of Gulfport earned about 100 more votes in Hancock than Democratic Candidate James Thomas of Biloxi, but he narrowly defeated Lindsey in the districtwide vote count drawn from Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties.

Republican Incumbent Congressman Trent Lott soundly defeated Democratic Candidate Arlon Coate.

The unofficial Hancock returns reflect the landslide victory with Lott receiving 4,758 votes and Coate gathering 1,361.

Hancock and statewide figures indicate four resolutions on the ballot were ratified by voters.

The resolutions, which will become four amendments to the Mississippi Constitution of 1890, include classification of assessed property, creating a lay State Board of Education which will appoint a state superintendent of education, shortening the time between election and inauguration of the governor, and calling for redistricting of Chancery and Circuit Court districts after every federal census.

Unopposed in their bids for reelection were Place One Judge William Stewart, Place Two Chancellor Jason H. Floyd Jr. and Place Three Judge J.S. (Johnny) Morris, all of the Eighth Chancery Court District which includes Hancock.

Also unopposed were Place Two Judge J. Ruble Griffin and Place Three Judge Kosta N. Vlahos, both of the Second Circuit Court District which also encompasses the county.

The Hancock polls closed at 6 p.m. and all unofficial precinct tallies were tabulated by 8:25 p.m.

For unofficial Hancock precinct results see page 6A.

Veterans Day Parade set for Thursday

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Annual Veterans Day Parade sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 of Bay St. Louis is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 11, according to John Wilkerson, parade chairman.

Vietnam Veterans will be honored by this year's parade which will start at Bay Junior High at 10 a.m.

Bill Moran, post commander, said, "We invite all American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Boy and Girl Scouts, and general public to participate."

A special speaker will give the address at the Bay St. Louis City Hall following the parade.

The address is usually given at the Hancock County Courthouse and is moved this year because of Main Street renovation.

Record Waveland voter turnout reelects Longo

By RANDY PONDER

The largest turnout of voters in Waveland history re-elected John Longo Jr. to his fourth consecutive term as mayor in that city's primary election Tuesday.

Incumbent Aldermen Herman Yarborough, Louie Smolensky, and Barbara Rappold were also voted back into office.

Approximately 2,700 registered voters are on the Waveland rolls which date back to 1970, the last time they were purged. City Clerk Barbara Rappold reports that of that number, probably only 2,200 or 2,300 are still living here.

"Some of these people have not voted since they first registered ten years ago. Others have moved or died and they are still listed on our rolls," Rappold explained.

Some 1,439 people voted in the election which breaks down to about a 65% turnout.

Photographer Bob Hubbard scored a resounding victory over contractor Lee Ashman for the Ward II alderman's position.

Incumbent Jack Toomey did not seek reelection.

Hubbard is the son of the late Manny Hubbard, a former Waveland alderman, 1942-46, and Hancock County Supervisor, 1946-68.

In the mayor's race, Longo easily defeated retired State Highway Department official Alvin Ladner, carrying all four city wards by large margins.

Ladner is also the son of a former Waveland politician, Garfield Ladner, who was mayor from 1942 until his death in 1973.

Unofficial returns show Longo winning with 1,138 votes to 301 for Ladner.

"I'd like to thank the people of Waveland for their vote of confidence," Longo stated. "I'm delighted with the results and the return of three great aldermen and the addition of Bob Hubbard who I'm sure will do a fine job."

"In the next four years we will try to secure more grant money to finalize current sewerage and building programs," Longo added.

This marks the seventh time Longo has been elected to public office. He served three times as alderman and has now been elected to his fourth term as mayor.

Ward I Alderman Barbara Rappold handily defeated challenger Robert F. Ladner, employed with St. Bernard Parish Schools, Chalmette, La., by an unofficial vote count of 244-57 to earn her second term.

Rappold stated that she, "appreciates the support that the people of the first ward showed," and that she will, "continue to be available for their needs and wishes."

Ward 3 Alderman Louie Smolensky was unopposed in his bid for a second term as was Ward 4 Alderman Herman Yarborough, who has now won his third consecutive and fourth overall term.

The mayor and board will take their oaths of office Dec. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Waveland City Hall prior to their first official meeting.

Woman alleges she was raped by 17-year-old

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A 17-year-old Bayside Park resident is lodged in the Hancock County Youth Detention Center in connection with the alleged rape of a 25-year-old woman, according to Waveland Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille.

Tartavouille said, "A resident called the Waveland Police Department early Wednesday morning reporting someone was pounding on their door. Patrolman Allen James answered the call and the victim was taken to the station."

"While James was talking to the woman, a man came into the station and asked the dispatcher for some change and was spotted by the victim who started screaming that he was the person, who raped her," Tartavouille continued.

"I was called and we took the woman to Hancock General as she appeared to have been beaten as she had a black eye and several bruises, and the suspect was taken to the Hancock Jail," Tartavouille allowed.

The 17-year-old will probably be tried as an adult, Tartavouille indicated, because of the nature of the crime. He conferred with Bob Walter of the DA's

No damage reported after funnel sighting

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

No wind damage occurred in Hancock and west Harrison Counties after a tornado warning was issued for the area Tuesday afternoon by the National Weather Service.

The warning was issued in response to a funnel cloud sighting at 1 p.m. by Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies at Port Blenville Industrial Park, Dorothy Blalston of the County Civil Defense Wednesday said.

In addition the weather service's office in Mobile, Ala., spotted severe weather and a tornado on radar over Hancock about five miles northwest of Bay St. Louis, she noted.

All Hancock and Harrison schools were notified by radio monitors of the severe weather.

The inclement weather was the result of a cold weather front moving through the area.

The Civil Defense office received no reports of a tornado touchdown, Blalston reported.

She added that deputies also spotted a funnel cloud near the Hwy. 607 and I-10 interchange.

The warning was lifted at 2:20 p.m.

Water from heavy rain momentarily flooded Ansley Road at about 2:35 p.m. Tuesday, Blalston added.

Specialist offers tips on cutting kitchen time

Cutting down on food preparation time is an important consideration for both full-time homemakers and those who work away from the home.

Ann Rushing, a food marketing specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said there are ways homemakers can speed dinner preparation and free themselves for other activities. Among her suggestions are:

—Be a weekend cook.
—Cook dishes to reheat in the microwave or conventional oven or a saucepan during the week," Mrs. Rushing said.
—Make a molded fruit salad to have handy in the refrigerator. Bake a batch of cookies for a speedy dessert with fresh fruit or ice cream.
—Cook a frozen two-pound turkey roast with gravy in the pan and store it in the refrigerator for sandwiches, meaty salads, skillet and casserole dishes. A roast works equally as well.

—Prepare double recipes.
—Serve one and freeze the rest for reheating," Mrs. Rushing said. "Spaghetti sauce, franks in baked beans or macaroni and cheese are examples. When shredding or dicing cheese and onion, prepare a quantity. Store in covered containers in the refrigerator or freezer for future use. This saves time and dishwashing."

—Plan ahead and shop for food just once a week.

—Make a shopping list and stick to it unless you find a bargain," she said.

—Keep a canned ham in the refrigerator for emergency occasions such as when unexpected guests drop by at mealtimes.

—Keep packages of sausage, bacon, and franks in the freezer for quick meals.

—For maximum quality, use these convenience meats within two months," Mrs. Rushing said. "Move them from the freezer to the refrigerator the night before you plan to use them."

—A puffy omelet filled with ham and cheese or sausage makes a quick, tasty meal that is nutritious.

—Fruit and cheese make a quick, satisfying dessert. On occasion, a special piece of candy serves as the surprise ending to a meal.

—Miniature pizzas made with toasted English muffins, tomato paste, oregano, browned sausage and shredded cheese go well with steaming soup.

—The popular BLT (bacon, lettuce and tomato) sandwich is another sure-to-please combination with soup.

—When making waffles for a Sunday brunch, bake extras and freeze them.

Salads add flexibility to menu

Salads for the holidays can be as varied as your imagination and can serve most any purpose you'll need during this busy season. There's the accompaniment salad, the appetizer salad, the main dish salad and the dessert or party salad.

People have been eating salad ingredients for centuries. However, today there are almost limitless ways to combine all the mineral and vitamin-rich foods we normally eat in salad form. From a nutritional and budget standpoint and because salads are such colorful and attractive foods by themselves, they are becoming more important in the daily menu picture.

Basically, good salad techniques include selecting the best ingredients and tastefully combining them. For the right beginning, use only crisp greens for the base of the salad or for a plain tossed salad. As soon as you bring the greens home, wash them thoroughly, drain and store in a plastic bag or other container in the refrigerator.

Buy whichever greens are in season and when possible keep a variety on hand. Iceberg, Boston and leaf lettuce, endive, escarole, romaine, tender spinach and cabbage leaves and watercress are excellent salad greens.

Almost any vegetable, fruit or meat will make a good salad. For the heart of the salad, combine or arrange salads just before serving for a crisp appearance. Always chill canned fruits and drain thoroughly. Arrange it on a salad plate in a neat, uncluttered manner. Keep it as simple as possible. Watch for color, texture and flavor variety when you combine ingredients.

Choose a dressing to complement the salad. Many types of prepared dressings are available for vegetable, fruit or meat salads. Or, you may have your own favorite recipe you'd like to use.

For easy and convenient salad making, keep your canned foods shelf well-stocked. Canned foods are easy to store in a cool, dark, dry place. Watch for ones you normally use. When they're on special, stock up so you'll have plenty for quick notice meals.

We mentioned four basic kinds of salads, so think about which ones you're likely to be using and how they can fit into your holiday plans.

Accompaniment salads should be light rather than substantial. Serve them in middle-sized portions either as a first course appetizer or with the main course. You may even use it to garnish the serving platter or dinner plate. Individual salads help make a pretty place setting.

Bread sticks or tiny crackers are nice to go with the salad you serve at the beginning of the meal, but aren't necessary for salads that accompany the meal.

Suit the type of salad and the amount you serve to the heartiness of the complete meal.

Bits 'n pieces

The electors of the City of Waveland again showed their sincere interest in exercising their voting rights Tuesday.

It was a normal Waveland election with the large turnout of persons voting, even with the change of location for the polls.

We visited the New Library on Coleman during the vote counting, and the crowds reminded us of many visits to the Town Hall, (which is now City Hall) in previous elections as the returns were being counted.

There were far more people in Waveland waiting for the returns than at the Hancock County Courthouse Tuesday night.

To those who voted in Waveland and Hancock County Tuesday, we commend each of you for exercising your rights. There is a need for more people interested in the persons elected to represent us in government.

This week is the last of High School football regular play by our local schools.

On Thursday, the High Flying County Champion Bay High Tigers will visit the St. John Eagles in Gulfport.

The Eagles are very strong this year and should really give the Tigers some problems.

Coach Snuffy Smith's blue and gold has been giving great efforts this year and should end the season with a victory.

It has been many years since Bay High has had such an impressive record.

Coach Irvin Favre's Hawks will host Pearl River Central in Hawk Stadium.

The Blue Devils put the only blemish on Bay High's record in the Deep South Conference play by a one point margin.

It will have to be an extra effort by every Hawk to tame the Blue Devils. The Hawks could even their season's record if they play the way they did against Vancleave a few weeks ago.

The Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will be trying for their second season victory when they host Vancleave's Bulldogs.

The Rocks under the leadership of Vernon Powell could use a victory to propel them into next season.

It will be a hard game for Pass Christian Friday when they host arch rival Long Beach.

The Bearcats should be more than the Pirates can handle.

Coach Bob Lumpkin has had the same problems as Stanislaus' Powell, as they both have a lot of sophomores on their squads.

This is the final night as we mentioned earlier and we hope there will be a big turnout by all high school football fans this week.

Remember, kick-off time is 7:30 p.m.

CONSUMER REPORT

A Service of the Consumer Protection Division of the Office of Bill Allain, Attorney General
P.O. Box 220, Jackson, MS 39205 (601-354-7130)

AUTO SERVICE CONTRACTS

Attorney General Bill Allain says that more and more consumers are contacting his Office of Consumer Protection seeking information concerning "auto service contracts."

While all new cars come with a "free warranty" provided by the manufacturer, a service contract is different. It provides a specific time during which the service contractor agrees to repair or maintain your car for an agreed-upon price. You purchase it separately from the car and do not have to get service from the dealer either. You may be able to tailor the service contract to cover all repairs or to pay only for routine inspection and maintenance.

Your warranty coverage and your service contract coverage may overlap for a year or so if your car is brand new. If they do, you should compare the coverages and decide whether the additional expense for the added coverage of the service contract is worth it.

Before you decide on a service contract, read it carefully and be sure you understand it. The following are some important tips to consider before binding yourself to an agreement:

"How long has the company been in business?"

"Is the company insured?"

"If the company that offers the service contract goes out of business will you be able to get your bills paid?"

"If your dealer has a service company administer the contract, will the company honor your contract if the dealer goes out of business?"

Other points to consider include: Do you have to pay the bills and get reimbursed, or does the company cover the costs directly? What happens if your car breaks down out of town? Exactly what is covered and under what circumstances? If a particular repair is not listed in the contract, it is probably not covered. Just be sure you understand everything before you sign.

To help you know how to shop for a good auto service contract, the Federal Trade Commission has a new fact sheet. For a single free copy of Auto Service Contracts, write to the Consumer Information Center, Department 635K, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

CLOUT CARDS

Allain reports that his office has filed suit in the Chancery Court of Lowndes County, Mississippi, against VIP Enterprises, Clout Card and Thomas Michael Smith.

The attorney general alleges in the complaint that the defendants are involved in the solicitation and sale of Clout Cards in the state of Mississippi which cards are good for discounts at participating merchants.

The complaint also alleges that an individual selling Clout Cards may also for an additional fee sell the right to others to sell Clout Cards which provides for the increase of membership through a chain process and constitutes a pyramid scheme in violation of the Consumer Laws of the State of Mississippi.

The suit further charges that the defendants have misrepresented to prospective members that the multi-level marketing system has been approved by the Attorney General of the State of Mississippi.

The Chancery Court is requested to issue an injunction prohibiting the activities of the defendants and to order the defendants to pay to the State of Mississippi a civil penalty in the sum of $500 for every willful violation of the Mississippi Consumer Act.

Chancellor Woodrow Brand issued a Show Cause Order and set a hearing for a temporary injunction at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 25.

PROPER STORAGE?—The Bay Senior High School Marching Band in Bay St. Louis has to store a tuba and expensive percussion instruments worth thousands of taxpayer dollars in a hallway just outside the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District superintendent's office at the high school because of an apparent lack of storage space. This inadequacy could lead to damage or theft of this equipment—the tuba already has a large chip in its horn. In addition, the award-winning band has to practice in a small third-story room at Bay Junior High School. The band should have proper funding and facilities to remedy these deficiencies and operate just as efficiently as the other extracurricular programs.

The People's Business

RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

It is easy sometimes to lose perspective on the world around us as we pursue our day-to-day activities. There's a tendency to simply take in stride the events at home and in foreign lands.

Here in the United States people enjoy certain rights which people abroad can't experience for one reason or another. In many nations governments don't hold elections. And in others they are held only when the leadership wants to conduct them.

In America the right to vote is absolute. But even with this inherent right there is responsibility. Too often Americans don't exercise this right and, therefore, don't meet their responsibility.

On November 2 the people of Mississippi will again have the opportunity to exercise their rights to cast ballots in an election process. They will decide who will represent them in very important positions in the nation's Congress and at home. The November 2 election will also include balloting on four important proposed changes to the Mississippi Constitution.

Failure to participate in the election is failure to appreciate the importance of this opportunity. The Mississippi Economic Council urges all voters to participate in the November 2 elections. In doing so we will be meeting our responsibilities as citizens.

LEARNING ABOUT FREE ENTERPRISE

All across Mississippi this fall high school teachers are returning to the classroom to learn more about how they can better convey the spirit of America's free enterprise system to their students.

Through a program sponsored by the Mississippi Economic Council's American Enterprise Center, high school teachers from throughout the state are attending special workshops designed to help them both learn and teach about the economic system on which this nation is founded.

Instructors in social studies, home economics, and related courses are attending the regional workshops. Over the past two years the American Enterprise Center has conducted similar workshops for more than 2,500 elementary and secondary teachers.

If America is to strengthen itself economically, it must help teach its young people the value of the free enterprise system. This will provide future generations with the proper learning tools so they can further strengthen our economic system.

In Mississippi, and in many schools around the U.S., the MEC's American Enterprise Center is pleased to be a part of this learning experience.

To whom it may concern:

Thieves and people who buy stolen goods — my home was burglarized between the times of Sunday night, Oct. 24 and Wednesday, Oct. 27.

I don't think it was an outsider. Evidence points to the conclusion. It is one of the "good old boys," male or female thieves, just like the good old boys in crooked politicians.

Then the good old boys "thieves" cover for each other. A criminal is a criminal in any area of life.

The objects stolen were an air conditioner (window unit). I will give serial numbers later, after the stolen air conditioner is in use so it can be identified in a home.

Two sets of drapes, one set is yellow and gold floral design, and one set is red, white, and blue star design, a gold tweed design indoor and outdoor carpet and a mixed green, brown and yellow short shag.

Try putting it in your home exposed to the public. Of course, you can sell it out of state. The law on earth may not get you, but there is a Great Being that sees all and knows all, even out of state.

Denying this belief will not get you off the hook. I know people who do not believe in any great creator but are more Christian in their everyday lives than good old boy thieves.

These non-believers will one day enjoy the great eternity.

A am upset that my property was abused, but not dissatisfied because my loss will be satisfied on a special day in a special place and at a special time called eternity, which isn't necessarily called heaven.

There is no escape from earth for the bad. You will be caught, won't you!

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

I want to advertise, I need to advertise, but I just don't have time to work out a regular program. A Busy Retailer.

Dear ABR: Like those too busy for medical checkups, equipment maintenance schedules, or occasional workshop sessions; if you are lucky, sooner or later, you'll have time.

If not, it won't make any difference. For these things have a way of taking care of themselves in the long run.

Being busy is not a reason, it's an excuse. For the busiest retailers are those who advertise — which is no accident.

Maybe you're busy doing the wrong things, but more likely you subconsciously keep too busy in order to avoid managerial duties.

The most painless way to develop an overall program is to do it once a year, or once a season as you make overall plans for your store.

An annual plan usually works best, but it should detail by season, month, week and day, items and promotions.

Keep the schedule and file copies of each promotion by dates (including the original print material used, if your newspaper doesn't do this for you.)

Next year will be easier, for you can simply update and modify this year's schedule.

Maintain records of results and try to figure out why the less successful didn't work better than they did. With files and records your next year is not only scheduled, it is partially tested.

When new products or lines are added, include advertising promotion in your planning. Ask for, and demand, print materials and in-store displays in advance, so they can be plugged into the annual schedule before the last minute.

Advertising is not a separate function of management. It fits neatly into the whole planning, pricing, promotion and eventual profit cycle.

So your problem is not shortage of time as it relates to advertising. You simply need to include an advertising plan into the overall management of your business.

Sentencing scheduled Friday in Hancock

Otis hands in resignation

By BRENT MACEY
Hancock County Circuit Clerk Henry Otis submitted his resignation to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday.

The resignation will be effective tonight, after Hancock election commissioners meet in the Circuit Clerk's office to finalize Tuesday's election results.

On Friday, Otis is scheduled to be sentenced at the Hancock County Courthouse by Judge James Hester of Laurel, who presided over the Otis trial in October. All three 2nd Circuit Court District Judges recused themselves from his trial due to their previous working relationships with the circuit clerk.

At the supervisor meeting, Otis maintained he is innocent and stated never converted any public money to his own use.

Otis was charged with embezzling some $49,000 in fines assessed in Chancery Court which were made payable to the Circuit Clerk's Office.

That amount was reduced to $25,000 on the first day of trial. Otis later pled guilty to negligence in failing to keep appropriate records—a misdemeanor offense.

"It will be my intention to fully account for any monies which may be due the county within my capacity to do so as soon as possible. These monies being due because I may have over-extended the expenses in the operation of the Circuit Clerk's Office," Otis said.

District Attorney Albert Necase has estimated that amount to be "more than $20,000."

Otis told the supervisors, "Another factor that led to my decision to resign was the bookkeeping system within the Circuit Clerk's Office has become complicated, the load has increased to such an extent that the help provided by law is not sufficient to run the office properly."

Otis never complained of this problem prior to his court trial. However, he told the supervisors Monday, that because of the lack of help, "I therefore...paid employees and other expenses of the office."

Otis stated it was a "great pleasure and honor" to serve the people of Hancock County. He cited his prior WWII experiences and mentioned his father, the late Lamar Otis, who was elected Circuit Court Clerk from 1959 until 1972.

The entire text of Otis' resignation, delivered to Hancock County Board of Supervisors' President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar and the entire board, is as follows:

Dear Mr. President:

I do hereby tender to the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, my resignation as Circuit Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi, effective with the close of business on the 4th day of November, 1982, and respectfully ask that the Board of Supervisors accept my resignation effective as of that date and time at your first meeting in November, being Monday, November 1, 1982.

May I say in tendering my resignation that it has been a great pleasure and honor to have had the pleasure of serving the people of Hancock County as Circuit Clerk.

My father, the late Lamar Otis, was elected Circuit Clerk in 1959, and served continuously from 1960 until his death in December, 1972.

The Board of Supervisors appointed me to fill the vacancy created by his death, and the people of Hancock County honored me by electing me out of a field that included 10 opponents in March, 1973. They again honored me by reelecting me in 1975 and 1979.

My family has been associated with Hancock County well over 100 years and we have been privileged to be citizens and neighbors with the good people of Hancock County.

In view of the great publicity that has attended recent events, I would like this Board of Supervisors and the people of Hancock County to know that I have always enjoyed serving my country, my county and my state.

I was one of the radiomen on the Aircraft Carrier Hornet that took Major General Doolittle and his squadron of B-25's into close proximity to the country of Japan, and participated in the launch of the Doolittle Raiders in the now historic Doolittle raid. I also was privileged to serve on the Hornet during the Battle of the Coral Sea and the Battle of Midway, and stayed in the Navy until I was injured in an on-shore injury in California, and was medically discharged for injuries sustained.

After a very careful review of the situation as it existed with reference to certain charges that have been made against my handling of the office and business, I felt my resignation to be in the best interest of the people of Hancock County.

cock County and the Courts that constitute our judicial system.

I have elected to terminate my service in the office of Circuit Clerk of my own free will and accord.

In doing so I reaffirm what I have said previously in Court and that is that I have never converted to my own use any monies belonging to the people of Hancock County or coming into my hands as Circuit Clerk.

It will be my intention to fully account for any monies which may be due the County within my capacity to do so as soon as possible. These monies being due because I may have overextended the expenses in the operation of the Circuit Clerk's Office.

Another factor that led to my decision to resign was that the bookkeeping system within the Circuit Clerk's Office has become complicated, the load has increased to such an extent that the help provided by law is not sufficient to run the office properly.

I therefore in the interest of running the office properly paid employees and other expenses of the office, which I shall have to repay out of my own pocket.

Finally, I express once again my appreciation to the people of Hancock County for the privilege of having been permitted to serve in this high office, and I thank the Board of Supervisors and the people of Hancock County who have cooperated with me and who have been so sympathetic to me in the recent days of adverse publicity and the trials and tribulations which have been thrust unwillingly upon me and my family.

I hold no ill will against any individual and I wish my successor in office every success, and pledge my full cooperation to that successor in the orderly transfer of the business of the Office of Circuit Clerk.

I likewise will be happy to offer my service at any time to the Election Commissioners and the Democratic and Republican election committees in the preparation and conduction of election material to insure fair and proper elections within the County.

Thank you for receiving my resignation in the spirit in which it was written and I wish you Supervisors every good wish as you conduct the business affairs of the County.

Yours very truly,
Henry L. Otis
Circuit Clerk

Sand sentenced to 5 years

By BRENT MACEY
Former Bay St. Louis Police Officer Chris Sand was sentenced to five years in the Mississippi State Penitentiary at Parchman Tuesday, by Circuit Court Judge Kosta Vlahos.

Two years of the five-year sentence—the maximum penalty—was suspended and Sand was ordered to serve a total of three years.

The case is expected to be appealed. Sand was released from the Hancock County Jail on a $10,000 appeal bond some five hours after he was sentenced.

Following his arrest, Sand had posted a $5,000 bond.

The former police officer was found guilty of conspiracy to commit mayhem last July during a jury trial conducted in Hancock County.

Sentencing had been postponed after the trial until a pre-sentence report could be prepared by the state.

Sand had been accused of conspiring to blind or cripple a Pascagoula man who allegedly owed a Bay St. Louis hotel owner money.

The former police officer Tuesday maintained he is innocent.

Vlahos stated he had given the sentencing much thought and taken into account that Sand was a former police officer.

He said he talked with one of the wardens at the state penitentiary and was assured that Sand could be confined to a section of the prison designed for special cases including former policemen, judges and officials involved with arresting or sentencing inmates.

Defense attorney William Frisbie asked the judge for leniency, noting this was Sand's first offense and that his client recently became the father of a baby girl.

Frisbie also noted that Boalia Bhattacharya, former manager of the Driftwood Motel on US-90, was fined $2,500 and deported after he pled guilty to conspiracy charges.

Vlahos overruled a motion for a new trial by Frisbie and Attorney James Tucker.

Tucker argued retrial should be granted since Vlahos erred during the jury trial by leaving the courtroom to perform a marriage ceremony while the jury was deliberating.

During that deliberation, the jury requested additional information concerning one of the jury instructions.

Vlahos could not be reached to advise the jury, and acting judge Michael Haas dismissed the jury until the next day without instructing the members to avoid television or newspaper accounts of the trial, Tucker claimed.

Also, Tucker argued that a statement by Sonny Johnson, prosecuting attorney, was a prejudicial remark and weighed heavily against his client in the jury's mind.

Johnson, in his final argument during the trial claimed that one of the witnesses who testified against Sand was "shaking" when Johnson shook his hand outside the courtroom.

ETV Briefs

FASHIONS ON ETV

Fashion coordinator Charlie Hilliard of Jackson is Ruth Campbell's guest on "Faces" at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 10 on the Mississippi ETV Network. The program will be rebroadcast at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 14.

Representatives from Self-Image Models, Inc. of Jackson will assist Ms. Hilliard in presenting several designs in hair styles, make-up, and fashions.

OLD-FASHIONED WAY

A traditional breakfast of hot biscuits and cane syrup—as opposed to biscuits with vitamin-fortified syrup—containing preservatives and artificial flavorings—is no anachronism to Colton Smith of Brookhaven and his customers.

Smith grows his own sugar cane and crushes it with an old-fashioned cane-crushing mill, said James Booth, who will cover the story of Smith's cane syrup production on "Farmweek" at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 8, on Mississippi ETV. Smith produces about 1,000 gallons of cane syrup each year, said Booth.

"Farmweek" includes weather forecasts for the week, farm news and market reports, production tips and notification of upcoming agricultural events in the state. The series is produced by the Mississippi Center for Educational Television and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

UW drive passes mid-point

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County United Way 1982 fund raising campaign collections have exceeded the halfway mark toward the organization's $40,000 goal.

Conrad Mauffray of Bay St. Louis, United Way executive director, recently reported campaign collections total some $22,640.

He said the campaign received a big boost with the receipt of $4,500 in payroll deductions from employees of Martin Marietta Aerospace at the Michoud Assembly Facility in New Orleans.

Mauffray noted the Martin Marietta contribution is primarily donations from Hancock residents who work at the Space Shuttle fuel tank manufacturing facility.

Last year the company gave about $3,000 to the Hancock campaign, he said.

The executive director estimated the Combined Agency Campaign at the National Space Technology Laboratories will contribute some $2,400 this year.

The Combined Federal Campaign which collects funds from all Hancock federal offices will offer about $9,000 to the local United Way, Mauffray projected.

Louis Breaux III of the Sellers Community, 1982 United Way campaign chairman, asks all local business and company leaders to urge employees to participate in the United Way payroll deduction plan.

The payroll plan automatically draws a relatively small amount from each employee pay check. The amount may be decided by each employee, the campaign chairman notes.

Payroll deduction forms may be obtained by telephoning UW Executive Secretary May Beyer at 467-5358.

The Hancock United Way helps support some 15 agencies—most with offices or programs in the county—which assist young, old, disabled and needy residents.

State's row crop farmers tilling too much poor land

Much of the farmland in row crops in Mississippi today is a no-profit situation.

Dr. Kelton Anderson, agronomy leader with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said state farmers have lands in row crops that need to be put back into pastures and trees to realize the best profit potential and conservation of the land.

"Many farmers could increase bottom line profits by cutting out some of the poorest producing acres," he said. "Diverting acres may reduce total farm production but would increase the average per acre yield and profits."

Anderson said a part of the solution to this problem in the state is land use planning. He said new U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) set aside or acreage reduction requirements may provide farmers a good opportunity to better plan the use of their land.

"Each farmer will want to decide what acreage to leave out of production and what to do with it while it is out," Anderson said.

"There is no doubt that intensive use of the land is a must to make a profit down on the farm today," Anderson said. "This use must be consistent with the productive capacity of the soil for the crop to be grown."

The agronomist said planning must include such considerations as land, labor, capital, equipment and cost return potential.

"Good land use planning takes into account the conservation of the soil and the maintenance of the productive capacity of the soil for the future," he said.

"Farmers need a good knowledge of the soil, its suitability for crops adapted to the area, and the profit potential for the crop," Anderson said. "The crop best suited to the land from a production and soil conservation standpoint may not be feasible to grow due to lack of profit potential at current prices for that crop."

The agronomist said many decisions need to be made in selection of land to set aside. Among them are:

1. Will irrigation be needed on the soil in most years?
2. Is crop rotation needed?
3. Is a winter cover crop needed?
4. Does organic matter need increasing?
5. Is lime needed?

Anderson said the new set aside and acreage reduction plans established by USDA provides farmers an opportunity to apply practices appropriate to the land. Appropriate practices may include land forming, cleaning up weed problems, drainage or terracing, establishing soil field borders and waterways or planting crops to increase organic matter.

"Good land use planning is demanded now more than ever if farmers are to make a profit and pass the land on to their children with an even better yield potential," Anderson said.

IP reports favorable fair booth response

NEW YORK — Approximately 4,500 visitors to the recent Mississippi State Fair in Jackson entered drawings for dictionaries and forest conservation books at the International Paper Company booth, IP reported.

"We were delighted with the response," said John Squires, the company's manager of fiber supply and wood producer programs. "At events such as state fairs, people often bypass educational exhibits and offerings like IP's booth—but not in Mississippi. Each night, the company held a drawing through which 10 specially-designed American Heritage dictionaries and 10 International Books of the Forest were given away. In all, 200 books were won by visitors to the booth.

Squires noted the dictionaries were "designed as part of IP's Power of the Printed Word campaign," a series of how-to articles aimed at improving communication skills. IP published the brightly-illustrated Book of the Forest "because it is in keeping with our role as stewards of some of the world's most productive forest lands."

HOME INSPECTION

QUESTION: I am interested in buying an older home and fixing it up. While I have some idea as to what I will have to do, I am somewhat scared of buying an older home. Should I pay someone to help me inspect the house I like? B. D. Hattiesburg

ANSWER: Dear B.D.

If you have been shopping for an older home, you may have discovered that it is not easy to determine the real condition of the structure. Before you make an offer and sign a sales contract, perhaps you should have the house inspected by a professional who will check the electrical system, plumbing, heating system, roof, walls, insulation and other components.

Many professional inspectors are certified by the American Society of Home Inspectors and thus should be qualified to make an inspection. If there are no certified inspectors in your area, make a list of questions to ask a prospective inspector. You may find a retired builder or engineer who is available to inspect the house for you. Find out what is included in the inspection. Certainly you want the components of the house inspected as well as the structural soundness. You need to make sure the inspector is familiar with local building codes so you will know what work will be necessary to have your house meet requirements of the code.

Ask the inspector for a list of referrals, and then do not hesitate in checking to see what type job the inspector has done for other clients. Make sure there is no conflict of interest that might bias the inspection. For example, you would not want the broker who has the house listed to inspect it for you.

Finally, get a written cost estimate. A good inspection is not free but it could certainly be worth the money. Ask a lender or real estate broker in your area for a list of qualified inspectors.

For answers to your questions, write Dr. Dennis Tosh, P. O. Box 285, University, Miss. 38677.

SCREENING ROOM ONLY

By David H. Jones

AN OFFICER AND A GENTLEMAN
An Officer and a Gentleman is a 1940ish love story updated with generous portions of violence, foul language and sex.

Not to say that this isn't a somewhat compelling film with adequate performances by Richard Gere and Debra Winger and a fine, hard-edged stint by Louis Gossett Jr., but 'An Officer and a Gentleman' does little to push characters past stereotypical drama.

The basic premise of this film involves Zachery Mayo (Gere) who enters the Navy's officer training school, befriends a good ole boy from Oklahoma (David Keith), offends hard-talking drill sergeant (Gossett) and falls in love with home town girl (Winger).

From this point the film laboriously plods to a predictable climax.

Gere seems to have found a niche in films dealing with gritty reality and harsh circumstances and this film does little to change that direction.

Gere first came to prominence as the street-wise hustler, Tony, in Richard Brooks' depressing 'Looking For Mr. Goodbar.'

He then played the impeccably dressed cruiser in Paul Schrader's sordid 'American Gigolo.' Both of these films dealt with life and love in very harsh tones. The possible exception to Gere's overly pessimistic choice of roles came in John Schlesinger's overlooked 'Yanks,' wherein Gere played an American soldier infatuated by an English woman. His character was more compassionate in this film than anything Gere has ever done.

In 'An Officer and a Gentleman' it seems as if Gere wants to meld his dark side with the optimistic ending that audiences crave. For the most part the action in this film is simply a diversion to the overlong romance played by Gere and Winger.

'An Officer and a Gentleman' does have its occasional moments of feeling and humor (what a bodacious set of ta-tas), but, in the final analysis, it is still a tried and proven screenplay that gets a good reshaping every few years.

On the other hand, 'My Favorite Year' is a fresh, delightful movie that, unlike most movies today, gets consistently better as it plays. By the finale, you're cheering for the swashbuckling hero (Peter O'Toole) to get on with his heroics.

O'Toole has never been better in his life, playing a burnt-out movie star named Allen Swann. Swann has been placed into a live television show called the Comedy Calvacade to pay the IRS some back-taxes and avoid deportation. The problem with Swann is his over indulgence of Scotch and women, in that order.

A young gag writer (Mark Linn-Baker) is given the chore of keeping an eye on Swann the week of rehearsals. What follows is a madcap display of O'Toole's splendid command of acting and comedic timing. He is impeccable and his besotted character oozes such class that Dudley Moore of 'Arthur' fame could well take some staggering lessons from this master.

O'Toole has received two choice roles in the last few years, this one and his maniacal movie director part in Richard Rush's 'The Stunt Man.' In both, O'Toole has proved he is in a class by himself, an actor who can soar with his eyes.

Richard Benjamin marked his debut as a film director with 'My Favorite Year' and his handling of the film is competent and knowing. He allows the actors the chance to apply their craft and his scenes are never too long. His restraint in timing pays off with a crashing climax and soaring optimism.

'My Favorite Year' turns out to be one good time at the movies with Peter O'Toole brandishing lines of classic comedy.

Bay Little Theatre opens season finale Friday at Playhouse

"Patio/Porch" opens Friday evening at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

This final season production begins at 8:15 p.m. at the playhouse on Boardman Avenue.

Sherry Schwabacher and Cindy Cranford open the first show as two Texas siblings who will be seen preparing the older sister's going away party on the "Patio."

The "Porch" features mother and daughter, Lady Carver and Yvonne Sills respectively.

The mother insists her porch has the better view of life than any on earth.

"The two one-acts" promise an evening of pleasure for the theatre audience, offering two productions for the price of one," said director Mike Cuevas.

This will be the final production for season ticket holders.

By Katy McGuire Caire

Good news for all corn lovers such as I... we're right in the midst of a record corn harvest... more than eight billion bushels of corn expected to be harvested by Thanksgiving time, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

And those ample corn supplies mean lots and lots of livestock feed... and that in turn means larger beef and pork supplies. So, let's rejoice... and munch and munch that corn!

America's earliest settlers were introduced to maize (from the Indian word mahlz) and taught how to grow it by the Indians, for whom it was a crop vital to survival. The colonists called it "Indian corn" to distinguish it from the grains they had known in the Old World, and then it became simple "corn" to them.

And down through the years and years, corn remains one of America's favorite vegetables, fresh, frozen, canned... cooked simply or in elaborate dishes... but always, and in all ways, delicious!

My father always insisted that corn be husked and cooked within a few minutes after it left the garden... but alas, and alack and a few more words of regret, that's not always possible, so we do our best, refrigerate the corn and cook it as soon as possible for best flavor.

And woe be to the family cook, if she forgot to serve the corn on the cob in a warmed dish lined with a linen napkin, which was then folded over to hold in the heat! I'm not about to iron those linen napkins in these oh-so-different-times, so I top the dish with foil in case someone's late at table.

And never, never, ever, do I salt the water in which I cook my corn. I learned long ago that salt only toughens it, but that a dash of sugar's just the thing, believe me.

So, we cook our ears of corn this way: We fill a large pot with enough water to cover the corn and bring to a rolling boil, add a dash or so of sugar, and plunge the ears (please, cleared of all the silk) into the boiling water.

Let the water come to a boil again, and cook for just about two, three or four or five minutes, depending upon how young and tender the corn is. Place in a dish, serve with melted butter and pepper, and salt, if you wish.

And, if you've some left over, why not make:

An exceptional display of some 46 cataloged curios will be on exhibit when Friends of the Library and their guests meet Thursday, Nov. 4.

Kitchen ware is included such as a top-load coffee mill, iron waffle and corn bread irons, an unbelievable can opener, and a stove "eye nose eye glasses, opera glasses, and dresser set with silver shoe horn, shoe button hook, etc.

Gentleman's articles include a folding cork screw, a collar button holder, a folding mustache comb, metal savings bank, and the once popular "dime bank" that held up to $5 in dimes.

Not to be overlooked are several styles in door knobs, a daguerrotype, and sock danner.

Eble said he would place the articles in the display case on Tuesday afternoon where they are scheduled to remain throughout the month of November since Friends of the Library have recommended this display for school groups and those who enjoy museum artifacts.

Possibly the most unusual and rare item in the collection is a sounding bell, brought up from the mouth of the Mississippi River by a trawler.

There is no way of knowing how many years have passed since this bell was last used in sounding the fathoms of water depth at various points traversed by some ship on the high seas," Eble said.

Running a close second place for rarity is a miner's lamp used to detect harmful gases.

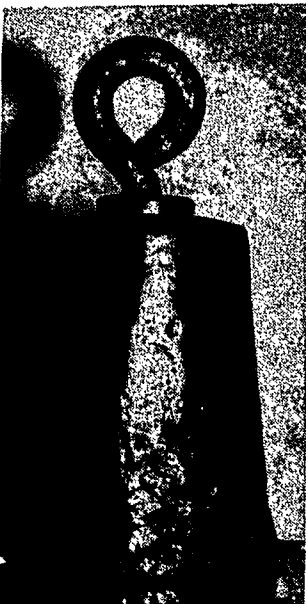

And for the practical — there's a corn sheller and an apple parer. Both very

Those with an appreciation of mechanics will revel at the intricate shotgun shell loader and crimper, a gasoline iron with pump and some of the miscellaneous tools including wrenches used by Pierce Arrow, and some manufactured by C.E. Billings and Charles F. Mall.

Ladies are sure to be pleased to see the exquisitely beaded "flapper's bag" reminiscent of the "roaring twenties," and also the pinch

Those attending Thursday's meeting are asked to use the Ulman Avenue entrance.

The Hour of Music will start promptly at 7:30 p.m. and following that program guests and members may enjoy the display, visit together in the Crawford Memorial Room where punch will be served, and those wishing to volunteer services or make suggestions are welcomed to do so.

Supervisors to meet with SMPDD reps again

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to meet with representatives of Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District for a third time this Friday to determine if money is available to pay salaries of four employees at the Hancock Senior Citizen Center.

Loss of the employees would drastically reduce the number of classes available to senior citizens at the center, center director Eve McDonald said recently.

The supervisors have met with SMPDD representatives twice in the past two weeks in an attempt to discover how much county money, administered by SMPDD, can be used to pay salaries.

McDonald claims that not all of $40,000 allocated to the center by the county has not been needed to secure federal matching grants for the center. She wants SMPDD to use the excess county money to pay salaries.

However, SMPDD representatives claim that money is already earmarked for use. They are doubtful if any excess is available for salaries.

Although the supervisors requested a breakdown of where the county's money is spent, a budget presented by SMPDD representatives Monday failed to satisfy the supervisors.

As a result, further breakdowns in the budget were requested and supervisors scheduled another meeting Friday at 9 a.m. in the courthouse.

Hancock jobless rate tops 10 percent

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County's jobless rate rose above the 10 percent mark for the second time this year in September based on recently released Mississippi Employment Service figures.

The county unemployment rate of 10.1 percent for September represented a one-half of a percentage point rise from the previous month.

Hancock's highest jobless rate was in July with a 10.3 percent figure.

In September some 950 were unemployed out of a civilian labor force of 9,400.

Even though the number of resident workers decreased by about 20 that month the number of unemployed increased by about 50, the state report lists.

Mississippi's unemployment rate dropped to 12.2 percent in September, a decrease of four-tenths of one percentage point compared to August's 12.6 percent jobless rate, says O.H. Simmons Mississippi Employment Security Commission Executive Director.

Last year's September unemployment rate was 7.8 percent, he notes.

The state unemployment rate was higher than the 9.7 percent national rate for September.

Commission figures show 130,000 unemployed and 934,700 employed out of a state civilian labor force of 1,064,700.

The initial unemployment insurance claims total 25,795 in September, Simmons reported.

Some 74 of the state's 82 counties list unemployment rates of 10 percent or higher in September. Five of those 74 counties report unemployment rates in excess of 20 percent.

Counties having the highest unemployment rates in September are Winston with 23.2 percent, Attala and Walthall, each with 22.5 percent, Wayne, with 21.5 percent and Greene, with 20.3 percent.

Issaquena, Oktibbeha, and Rankin Counties report the lowest jobless rates. Issaquena is 5.9 percent, Oktibbeha is 6.9 percent, and Rankin is seven percent.

Some 29 counties show an increase in unemployment rates from August to September, while 50 report decreases. The unemployment rate in three counties is unchanged.

FIRE EQUIPMENT

The Mississippi Forestry Commission expects to have approximately $50,000 in Federal funds available for FY 83 for small matching grants to rural communities to assist them in obtaining needed firefighting equipment, according to an announcement this week by State Forester Robert S. Moss.

The grants will be issued under the Rural Community Fire Protection Program (RCFP) as authorized under PL 95-113. This will be the eighth year Mississippi has received funds for such grants which are limited to a maximum of $2,000 per community.

"Communities or fire departments interested in securing one of the RCFP grants would be well-advised to take prompt action in this regard," says Curt Fulgham, Fire Control Forester for the Commission.

Rural communities of under 10,000 population are eligible for the funds. In the event the expected Federal funds are not received by the Forestry Commission, all applicants will be notified as soon as possible.

Application forms may be secured from Curt Fulgham, Fire Control Forester, 908 Robert E. Lee Building, Jackson, MS 39201, or from Commission District Offices at Tupelo, Philadelphia, Bay

Springs, Wiggins, Brookhaven, Rolling Fork and Elliott. Completed applications must be returned to Fulgham by 5 p.m., Jan. 3, 1983. All grant monies must be spent and materials must be in the purchaser's legal possession by Aug. 31, 1983.

In grid season capper, Pirate homecoming:

Revenge match anticipated in Pass-Long Beach contest

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Pass Christian High School Pirates will cap homecoming activities this week with a football contest against the Long Beach High School Bearcats Friday night.

Pass Christian defeated the Bearcats 21-20 last year in an action-packed game which spoiled Long Beach's homecoming.

Head Coach Bob Lumpkin is keenly aware Long Beach is aiming to return the favor and preparing the Pirates to counter what promises to be a vicious Bearcat attack.

"They're ready to get after us," he stated.

The Friday game at Francis

S. McDonald Stadium on North Street will also mark the end of Pass High's 1982 football season.

Although the Pirates are 2-7 this season, Pass Head Coach Bob Lumpkin Tuesday noted his young and relatively inexperienced ball players have improved significantly during the season and offered good efforts against tough teams.

"They've hustled all year long and made some good efforts in games. Hopefully next year with the experience the young players have gained, we will have a tough ball club," Lumpkin stated.

The head coach said Long Beach is 4-5 this year, but the team has played a rigorous AA game schedule.

"Long Beach beat Bay Senior High School this season and could have beaten Pkayune High School last week," he stated.

Lumpkin said the Bearcats are not a really big team, but they utilize a variety of passing and rushing plays with an 'excellent' quarterback named Ronnie Darte, a senior.

The head coach also noted Long Beach Fullbacks Pat Robinson (220 pounds and five-foot, nine-inches tall) and Robbie Lee (200 pounds and six-foot, one-inches tall) will keep Pass Christian's defensive backs busy all evening.

"They've got good size backs and fair speed," he stated.

Lumpkin reported all Pirate team members are in good physical condition.

"It's going to be a battle, but we're keeping basically the same lineup as last week," he stated.

The head coach revealed backup Quarterback Charles Woods, benched for two weeks with an ankle injury, is practicing this week and will be ready to play ball Friday.

Friday homecoming activities will begin at the stadium at 7 p.m. and kickoff time is at 7:30 p.m.

Maids Alecia Deffes, Wanda Conway and Sonya Pienais; and Junior Maids Denise Stabiler and Valentine Dedeaux. ## Dogs, Rocks meet in season ender

By RANDY PONDER
St. Stanislaus will close out the 1982 football season Friday night, hosting the Vancleave Bulldogs.

Vancleave, like St. Stanislaus, has had a disappointing year. The Bulldogs won their first two games and have since lost seven in a row.

The Rock-A-Chaws lost their first seven before upending

East Central, 7-0, two weeks ago.

Last week St. Stanislaus lost to Pass Christian, a team they have never defeated. The score of that game was 39-21.

Rock quarterback Matt Scardino completed six of fifteen passes in the Pass game for 125 yards.

Joby LaBruzzi caught two of those passes for 53 yards.

Russ Betcher had three receptions for 19 yards.

Mark Tubre and John Killeen led the Rock-A-Chaws in rushing with 29 and 27 yards respectively.

Chuck Yarbrough had six unassisted tackles and four assists. Casey Wittmann recorded three unassisted and five assists on tackles.

Coach Vernon Powell

reports that Vancleave has a good football team. "They have an excellent passing quarterback. They haven't been out of any game they've played," Powell added.

"This is just like any other game, we've practiced all week, it makes no difference to us that it's the last of the season."

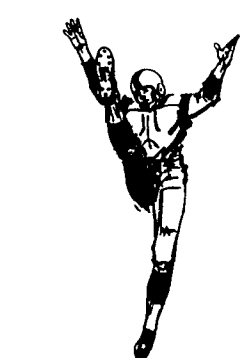

Powell added that it would mean a lot to the boys if they have a good turnout for the game.

Troy Flynn will miss the game, suffering a cracked ankle last week.

Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

FISHERMAN OF THE WEEK—Mr. and Mrs. Toxie Hall, operators of LaFrance's Fishing Camp in Analey, insist it is without prejudice that they nominated grandson John Shelby (Jay) Bass, Jr., as 'Fisher of the Week' on a recent visit to the Hancock County facility. Bass, fishing from the LaFrance dock off Bayou Campbell, reeled in a fresh water perch from the brackish water. He is the son of J. B. and Diane Bass of Prentiss. Mrs. Hall said the waters around Analey this week are yielding flounder in the four to six pound size range, as well as 'some speckle trout and a few red fish.' Fishermen are doing well with both market bait and live shrimp, she added. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Wildcats close season against Holmes

A funny thing hapened on the way to a South Division junior college playoff.

In fact, if a team is not really careful, it can be left out in the cold in a matter of a couple weeks.

Case in point. The Pearl River College Wildcats.

Less than a month ago, the PRC 'Cats were 5-1 overall and boasting an unblemished

3-0 division ledger. That was before Gulf Coast, Southwest and Co-Lin.

Today PRC has a 5-4 record and a 3-3 mark in the division; good enough only for a third place tie. Last Saturday, Co-Lin nailed the last plug in the PRC's '82 coffin.

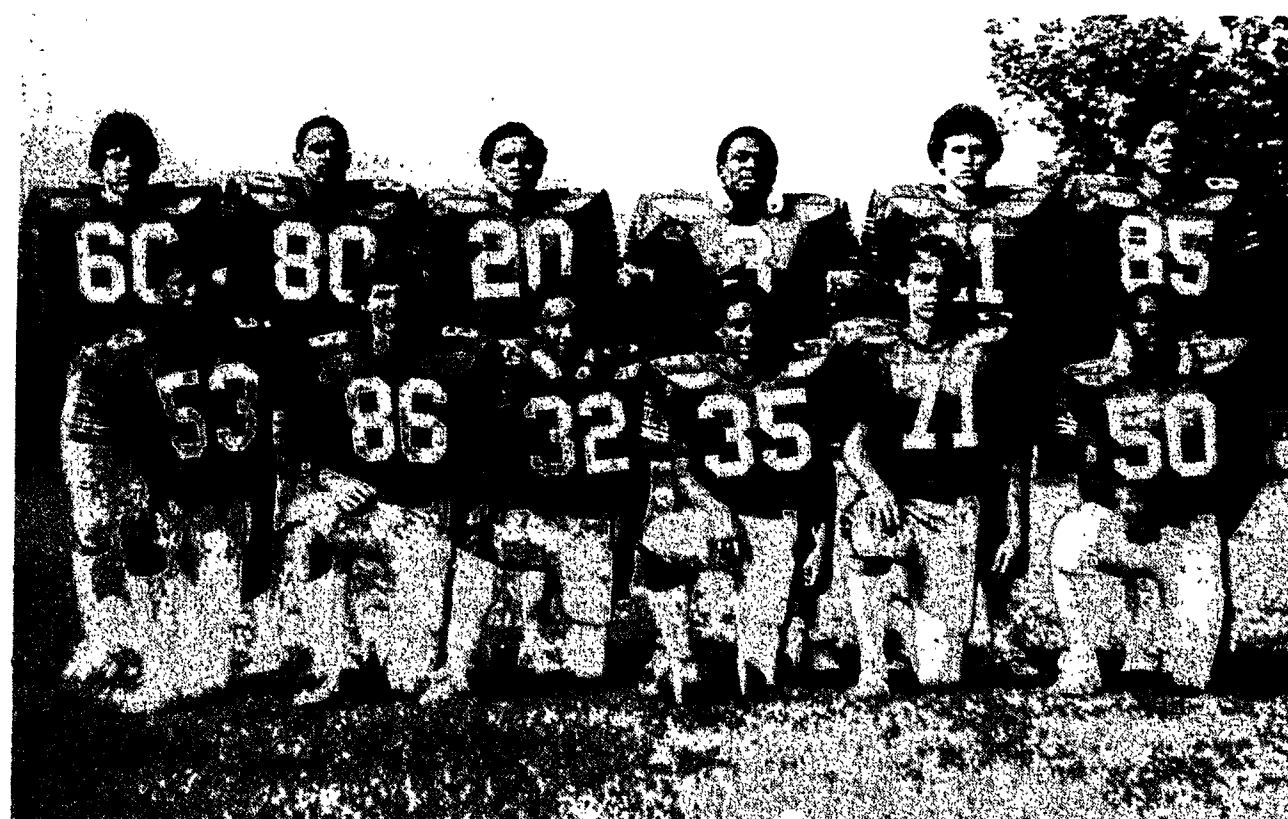

After losing 17-14 to Gulf Coast, the Wildcats dropped Homecoming to Southwest 27-24. This past week it was the Co-Lin Wolves coming up with a 30-15 setback. Only Holmes, this Saturday night, remains on the PRC schedule.

In defense of the Wildcat's fall is a long list of injuries. Against the Wolves, the Wildcats had 10 starters missing the game and another 10 who were bruised up and missed practice.

"I thought we played pretty good on defense," said coach J. C. Arban. "And if we had not made some mental mistakes on offense we could have given them a scare."

The Wolves scored two touchdowns on field goal attempts. One was a fake attempt and the other was a muffed try that was picked up and passed into the endzone

DEFENSE! DEFENSE!—Hancock North Central halfback Mark Santalla rises to the occasion Friday night at Bay High Stadium to break up a long Tiger pass intended for fullback Jerome Thomas (27) or tight end Jody Spencer (83). Also downfield for the Hawks are Danny Foy (87) and Mike Bilbo, right. Following a 22-6 loss to the Tigers, Hancock will go for a break-even season with a win against the Pearl River Central Blue Devils this week at Hawk Stadium. Coach Irwin Favre urges Hawk fans to give the HNC seniors a rousing farewell at their final game Friday. Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. (Echo staff photo by Brent Macey)

COMPLETE TO GOFF—Hancock North Central end Cedric Goff (82) gathers in a first quarter touchdown pass from Hawk quarterback Brett Favre in the Bay High end zone Friday at Tiger Stadium in Bay St. Louis as an official watches for pass interference. Stalking the receiver are Philip Hart (50) and Randy Bounds (51). The play was nullified due to a procedure call against Hancock. Bay bested HNC 22-6, giving the Hawks a 4-5 overall season record. The Hawks will attempt to break even for the year with a win against Pearl River Central in Hawk Stadium this week. Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. Friday. (Echo staff photo by Brent Macey)

Bay High intrasquad basketball action slated for Friday

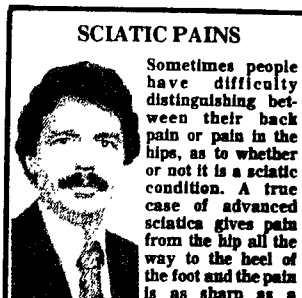

Intersquad varsity basketball games at Bay High School will be conducted this Friday in the Tiger gymnasium.

The boys' intrasquad match is slated for 7:30 p.m. The girls' contest will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Admission is free.

Girls' Head Coach Zeke Bradley noted the intrasquad games will kick off the Tigers' 1982-83 season which begins Nov. 11.

On that date both Tiger teams will travel to Pearl River Central. The following

SCIATIC PAINS

Sometimes people have difficulty distinguishing between their back pain or pain in the hips, as to whether or not it is a sciatic condition. A true case of advanced sciatica gives pain from the hip all the way to the heel of the foot and the pain is as sharp as a toothache. Minor forms of this condition tend to lead to the confusion. In any case, in all types of these conditions, the basic problem and cause is usually a displaced pelvic bone associated with vertebral subluxations which compress and impinge upon the nerves leading to the legs and feet. The application of proven scientific chiropractic care will arrest and correct the majority of these conditions, thus enabling the person to avoid caustic injections or surgery. Delay in a matter like this invites serious complications and prolonged therapy — to arrange a prompt appointment with your doctor of chiropractic at the first sign of such a condition.

WEATHERWISE BOATING

A word to the wise is usually sufficient when it comes to deciding on the suitability of the weather for boating. But it's uncanny how often the unwisest never bother to get the word. Recreational boat skippers have a duty to know what's going on weatherwise. If they don't, their craft could become victims of foul weather, possibly jeopardizing safety.

It makes no difference whether you boat on inland or coastal waters, claim Mercury outboards' boating experts, the potential for unexpected dangerous weather exists in all areas. Sudden squalls and thunderstorms, and their accompanying high winds, can turn an enjoyable cruise into a nightmare. The best defense against hazardous boating weather is to be ashore when it occurs.

Local forecasts are the key to being weather knowledgeable. In many areas, especially on large lakes and coastal waters, marine weather forecasts are available from the National Weather Service. And harbor masters in most active boating areas display a series of flags that provide a visual clue to the forecasted weather. One other source of information is the U.S. Coast Guard, which broadcasts weather data over marine radio frequencies, especially when small-craft warnings are in effect.

Augmenting weather forecasts by knowing and observing the indicators of change makes good sense. Watch cloud formations and know which ones imply approaching storms. Be alert for slow and sudden changes in wind direction and velocity. Watch the water around you and be aware of increasing wave heights.

Lady Wildcats scrimmage in N.O.

Pearl River College's Lady Wildcats are in their last week of pre-season scrimmages before things start for real Tuesday.

Tonight, Nov. 4, the Lady 'Cats will travel to New Orleans to take on Tulane, a team the PRC girls defeated 64-62 in double overtime last week.

Saturday the Lady 'Cats will be back in the Crescent City taking on the University of New Orleans.

"The scrimmages have been good for us," said coach Billy Holmes. "It has given us a lot of experience and we have improved." Holmes said he and assistant Ned Eades, are getting to know more of what each player can do.

PRC, 10-4 in the South and 19-6 overall last season, will have their hands full doing as well this year. Especially since two of the three returning starters are not coming back.

Sophomore Marian Brandt from Slidell had knee surgery in early September and Devri Morgan of Poplarville, left the team last week due to personal reasons.

"We will have to play at least three new people and while we have good size, that's not as good as experience," Holmes said.

Ole Miss Law Library ranks next to last in US

The Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning reviewed a special request from the eight state institutions regarding extraordinary items exceeding the eight percent limit on state and general fund increases for FY 1983-1984.

Among the most urgent is the need to increase faculty salaries and library holdings and repair and renovation of buildings, stated Dr. Robert Harrison Jr., president of the board.

Faculty salaries are exceptionally low in certain fields of study. These fields are business, engineering, computer science, law, meteorology, and geology. Four and one-half million dollars is needed in order to be competitive in the marketplace for faculty members, stated Dr. E. E. Thrash, executive secretary and director of the Board of Trustees.

To increase library holdings, $2,287,500 is being requested by the state institutions. Other items for general support include Centers of Academic Excellence and program review.

The Board of Trustees authorized the chairman of the Finance Committee to review all of the urgent need requests and after consultation with the professional staff of the Board and the universities submit to the Budget Commission the final list of extraordinary needs not previously submitted.

The recommendation by the Building Committee to purchase and install an Executive Telephone System for the new Marine Education Center at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory was approved as a pilot project.

According to recent analysis by the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, they would realize with the purchase and installation of this telephone system a savings of approximately $3,435 over a five-year period.

A request by Alcorn State University to revise the previously approved request of $500,000 for furniture and equipment for its nursing school to $750,000 was approved by the Board.

The Board of Trustees approved the naming of the new health, physical education and recreation building at the University of Mississippi the Thomas N. Turner Health, Physical Education and Recreation Center. It was stated that Turner made innumerable contributions to the University and has provided dedicated leadership and efficacious service while serving as a member of the Board of Trustees.

Other actions by the Board included accepting the Presidents' Council recommendation to petition the Commission of Budget and Accounting to permit the institutions of higher learning to enter into a contract for a separate life insurance program as recommended by the Inter-Institutional Committee on Fringe Benefits.

The Board also approved the State Board of Health personnel to assist universities in identifying health hazards and to make recommendations to eliminate these hazards as they relate to friable asbestos materials in buildings. This evaluation is necessary to provide a safe environment on the campuses and to comply with various federal and state laws and regulations.

Parham Williams, Dean of the School of Law at the University of Mississippi, reported to the Board of Trustees on the status of the law school during Wednesday's board meeting. While stating the facilities were excellent, library holdings lag behind other state-supported law schools in 13 southeastern states surveyed.

Williams stated that the average law library in the schools surveyed contained 27,230 hardcopy volumes, but the University of Mississippi had only 15,882, ranking next to last. Williams stated the school needs $491,400 annually for the next three years to update its library.

A special appeal was also made to increase faculty salaries. Just last year, two excellent faculty members left the law school for private practice because of low salaries, he stated.

ALUMNI AWARD—Buddy Klein, left, of Waveland received the Membership Award from the University of Southern Mississippi Alumni Association recently. Klein is president of the USM Alumni Chapter in Hancock County.

Poplarville graduate named PRC's first honor alumna

Mrs. Kathryn Bass Moody of Poplarville, a 1936 special honors graduate, became the first Pearl River College Alumna of the Year at the school's annual Alumni Banquet.

Mrs. Moody, the first woman to serve on the Board of Trustees of Pearl River College, has been a supporter of PRC since she became a student.

"Her willingness to accept worthy new ideas has sparked a continued interest in the progress of the church, school, young people and the community," said Enoch Seal Jr., PRC's academic dean and secretary of the Alumni Association.

Mrs. Moody gives scholarships to PRC students studying in the fields of both nursing and business. "As a direct effect of her financial aid to nursing students, we have registered nurses in this geographical area that we would not have had otherwise," Seal said.

She has recently served on the PRC Building Committee and has donated her time and talents in selecting furniture and choosing the decor of the recently completed million dollar building project on campus.

The Columbia, Mississippi native graduated from Meridian High School and moved to Poplarville to attend PRC. She married the late J.S. Moody in 1937 and since that time she has had a variety of activities in the community.

"Not only has her interest been in the community as a whole, but in reaching out and helping individuals in times of need," said Seal. "She is to be congratulated on her interest and support of her church, community and school, and in making her home available to young people of all faiths."

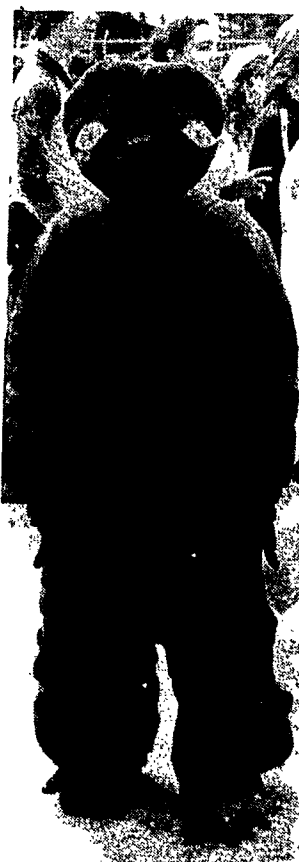

Mrs. Moody has two children who attended Pearl River College. Her son, Buddy Moody, is married to the former Robin Smith of Picayune and they live in Poplarville. Her daughter, Miriam, is married to Ted Perry and they live in Middlebury, Vermont. Mrs. Moody has six grandchildren. "This association is most proud of Mrs. Moody's dedication, loyalty and support of Pearl River College," Seal said.

Mrs. Moody said, after receiving a plaque from Shelton Ball, the PRC alumni president, "I believe in the River Magic. I always will."

Shelton recognized five members of the 1930 graduating class as the earliest graduates in attendance at the annual banquet. Each will receive an autographed football.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chisolm of Buffalo, New York were recognized as the graduates who traveled the farthest to come to the banquet. An award was also presented to Miss Ann Dandridge for her efforts as president of the Alumni Association from 1979-81.

PRC's Afro-American Cultural Society plans Founder's Day Dec. 16

By DOROTHY JONES
PRC Journalist

Dorothy Jordan, sponsor of the Afro-American Cultural Society (AACS) and assistant librarian at Pearl River College says she is very pleased with the success of the organization.

The AACS, which consists of 35 members, formed an Afro-American Choir last February.

Harvey Graham, a freshman and president of the choir, said he got the idea during Black History Month. Afro-American choirs from other junior colleges performed at PRC during Black History Month and Graham thought PRC could do the same.

The choir is a subsidiary of the AACS, giving members who do not wish to participate in the choir the opportunity to involve themselves directly with the AACS.

Mrs. Jordan says she got the idea to form AACS from USM and William Carey College who had Afro-American Societies.

The purpose of AACS is to get blacks actively and effectively involved in activities of the school.

The AACS conducts bake sales, dances and car washes throughout the year as fundraisers. The funds are then used to finance travel expenses and the annual field trip of which members are given the chance to visit some place new to them.

"There is a tremendous amount of enthusiasm among members of AACS and the Afro-American Choir (AAC)," says Jordan. A Founders Day program is being planned for Dec. 16.

This event will be an annual event in which a luncheon is served and will feature a guest speaker.

Mrs. Jordan says she tries to create a non-classroom atmosphere during meetings and rehearsals. The AACS meetings are held every second and fourth Tuesday while the AAC rehearsals are held every first and third Tuesday, 11:30 a.m. to noon.

Members are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with school policy.

Fin de Siecle photo exhibit opens at NOMA

The New Orleans Museum of Art, in cooperation with the Ursuline Convent in New Orleans, will present a special exhibition entitled "Photographs by Mother St. Croix," on view Nov. 7 through Jan. 16.

The exhibition includes 83 prints taken by Mother St. Croix (1854-1940), a Catholic nun of the Ursuline order in New Orleans.

These photographs depict life in and around the Ursuline Convent near the turn of the century. Mother St. Croix's photographs are a complete and unusual pictorial account of the Ursulines and of an era that has disappeared.

Mother St. Croix bequeathed to the community a picture history of the Dauphine Street Convent, no longer in existence, preserving an era that would otherwise have been lost forever.

She also left a picture record of the construction of the new convent on State Street from the laying of the first brick to the triumphal dedication ceremony of the convent in 1912.

In this new convent she had the joy of having her own well-equipped "dark" room within the cloister. The annals relate that by the 1880s, Mother St. Croix was already regarded as an artist in this medium.

Her photographs of the Dauphine Street Convent and its students were included in the exhibit on Louisiana educational institutions that represented our state at the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis.

With her expert lens Mother St. Croix captured the entire story of the coronation of the "miraculous" statue of Our Lady of Prompt Succor in 1885.

Mother St. Croix was a fine photographer with a gifted eye—an eye for organization and composition.

She was a pioneer in her field, believed to have been the first women photographer in the City of New Orleans.

PRC reports parade winners

Pearl River Hall and Movie Star Inc., won the school and commercial divisions of Pearl River College's Homecoming parade competition in Poplarville.

Dr. James Sones, chairman of the parade and dean of PRC's vocational-technical education, "We didn't have as many bands participating but I think we had better floats than last year."

Bands participating in the annual PRC event included Poplarville, Prentiss, Bassfield and the Pearl River marching units.

Dr. Sones said there were 87 entries in the two mile long parade which made its trek through downtown Poplarville.

Miss Tina Davis, PRC's 1982 Homecoming Queen, and her court were featured, as well as many state and local dignitaries.

"We had tremendous support this year," said Dr. Sones. "Don Bradley Ford, (Poplarville) furnished us with 15 new cars, and many more businesses, and industries pitched in to make the '82 Homecoming parade very memorable."

Dr. Sones said he was also very impressed with the work and ingenuity of the student dorms and organizations. "They did a terrific job," Sones said.

Pearl River Hall beat out Huff Hall for first place in the college division of the float competition. The Phi Theta Kappa organization placed third behind the two men dormitories.

Movie Star Inc. of Poplarville won first place in the commercial division for the third time during the past four years. Hancock Bank of Poplarville placed second and the Shady Oaks Gang placed third.
